Area to the left of $z$ under the normal curve. The rows represent the tens digit of $z$ and the columns represent the hundreds digit. So, for instance, to find the area to the left of 1.23, go down to the "1.2" row and over to the "0.3" column, and find the answer: 0.891.